INDUCTION FOR CHILDREN'S SOCIAL WORKERS FROM OVERSEAS

INTENSIVE SEMINAR FOR NEWLY APPOINTED SOCIAL WORKERS TRAINED OVERSEAS WITH A RECOGNISED PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATION

Increasing numbers of social workers from overseas are recruited to children and families' social work posts in England due to the critical recruitment situation in the country. They face significant challenges posed by the differences in the social and legislative contexts between England and their home countries.

With the KSL "Induction to children's social workers from overseas" course they can successfully overcome these challenges and operate effectively in England taking responsibility for safeguarding society's most vulnerable children.

The bespoke course can be supplemented with individual pre-course assessment and post-course mentoring for participants. Recruitment agencies and councils can purchase the course or individual places.

Provides a comprehensive insight into industry essentials:

- Childcare social work policy and practice in England and major policy developments
- Related legislation; roles of service organisations, local and national governments
- Differences in social work practice between England and the participants' home countries

Delivered regularly and flexibly - as and when your social workers are recruited, whether 1 or 20

Develops transferable knowledge and is instrumental in meeting CWDC Induction Standards, particularly Induction Standards 2, 3, 6, 7.

Tailored around the learning needs of an individual council, region or participants' country of origin

Significantly reduces your development costs, saves you preparation time and helps build confidence in your newly recruited workforce.
